Administration

Superintendent

Coordinating the activities and functions of the Ames schools is Walter Hetzel, Superintendent of the Ames Public School System for the third year.

The superintendent, elected by the Board of Education, serves on the governing body of the Ames schools. The members of the Board of Education for 1957-1958 are: Don S. Stevens, Mrs. Lee Rosebrook, Thomas Hannum, Frank E. Adams, Earl Holtz, J. M. Walter, and Mrs. Julia Cole Welden. The Board is in charge of all the financial matters and school policies.

Officers for this year are: Frank E. Adams, president; Frank B. Howell, secretary; Hiram Munn, treasurer; and Walter Hetzel, superintendent.

The rapid growth of the Ames Public Schools is keeping these leaders busy planning the expansion of the staff, equipment, buildings, and future sites needed for these additional students. Enrollment in the Ames Public Schools has increased from 2565 in 1950 to 3716 in 1957 with a projected enrollment of 4889 by 1962. The increasing tempo of sociological change has at the same time made necessary careful study of curriculum. The most critical problem immediately ahead is the financing of new buildings. This is due to Iowa's constitutional provision limiting bonding capacity to five per cent of the taxable property in the district. With about half of the property in Ames state-owned and tax-exempt, bonding capacity is too low to finance future building needs. The Iowa Legislature is being asked to help.

These problems mean added work for the secretarial staff also. The staff includes: Mrs. Grace I. Elliot, secretary to the superintendent; Miss Laura Sayre, secretary to the business manager; Mrs. Edna Davis, bookkeeper; and Miss Karyl Sills and Mrs. Patricia Demaray, secretaries.

Regular meetings of the Board of Education are held the second Monday of each month. They are open to the public.

Principal

Our principal, Herbert Adams, is always ready to help students get the best values from their high school experiences. Each student is encouraged to visit him and talk over any problems.

Interpreting the regulations of the Board of Education as they affect the policies of Ames High School is a big job. Many important decisions affecting the school life are made by him. Mr. Adams spends many hours in conference with students seeing that they get into the classes which best meet their needs. He plans the schedule of all classes. This job has become increasingly difficult with added enrollment and a sharing of classroom facilities with Central Junior High.

Mr. Adams is always on hand to meet new students and to confer with teachers and visitors. Throughout the year he sees that our school runs smoothly.

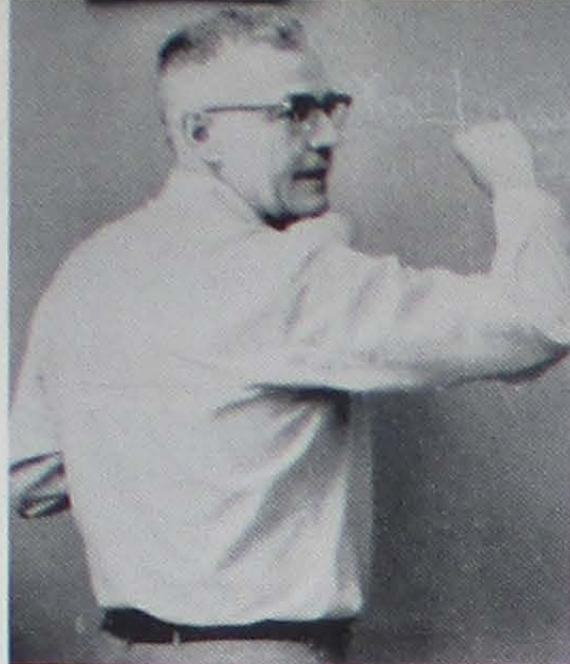

Secretaries

A constant stream of students in and out of the office keeps Mrs. Daisy Flack and Mrs. Ruth Green, Mr. Adams' assistants, busy. Their most important jobs are keeping a confidential record of all the students in high school and sending out transcripts of records for the seniors. Typing daily bulletins and weekly calendars and stamping passes are also some of the many tasks of the secretaries. They keep a complete record of the school's absentees and act as the school's receptionists. Aiding them in the office by collecting attendance slips, answering the telephone, and doing various other odd jobs are Joan Bachman, Sandy Rouze, Sandy Carpenter, Karen Pratt, and Barbara Kyle.

Mrs. Daisy Flack, Mrs. Ruth Green

World Affairs tests are a familiar part of Kenneth Page's American government and world history classes. He also sponsors the citizenship committee and assists with intramurals.

A new addition to the Ames High teaching is Cecil Spatcher, American history and biology teacher. He was also sophomore football coach and assistant track and basketball coach.

Everett Ritland is the senior sponsor and boys' advisor. He also teaches Latin, is student council advisor and has charge of adult education.

Richard Trump teaches biology and heads the photography club. He is also the advisor to the SPIRIT staff.

In his second year at Ames High, Floyd Sturtevant lives most of his life in the chemistry lab. He also teaches physics and sponsors the radio and science clubs.

The fine performances of the marching and concert bands are due to the efforts of Richard D. Day.

Dale M. Hiedeman teaches plane geometry, solid geometry, and algebra 4. He is also co-sponsor of Hi-Y.

Assets = Liabilities
+ Proprietorship is familiar to Madalene Canvin's students in bookkeeping. She also teaches typewriting, is assistant junior class sponsor, and supervises the Awards Committee of the Student Council.

"Experience is one of the best teachers," states Owen Shadle, who heads the work experience and cooperative training program. He also sponsors the assembly committee.

Mrs. Aurilla Vegors teaches sophomore English, P.W.O.E., counsels junior girls, and also assists in the drama department.

Mrs. Charlotte Whitney is girls' advisor, heads guidance, teaches journalism, and helps with Girl Reserves. She also sponsors Cubs' Club, election committee, and the Ames High School Web.

Many of the sophomores learn plane geometry from Mrs. Betty Grubb. She also teaches algebra I and sponsors the sophomore cheer squad and the publicity committee.

In addition to directing choir, mixed chorus, and boys' and girls' glee clubs, Wayne Cross also trains smaller vocal groups and soloists.

Leonard Bengtson teaches metal shop. His students learn metal casting, auto mechanics and welding.

Exercising to music was one of the ideas Mrs. Carol Lockhart, the new girls' P.E. instructor, brought to her classes. She is also G.A.A. and cheersquad advisor.

Mrs. Rose Elliot teaches Latin and German and is the faculty advisor to the service committee.

Besides teaching American literature, Miss Edna Wilcox spends much of her time planning and organizing the activities of Girl Reserves.

Wallace Linn teaches American history. Winter season sees him coaching the varsity basketball team. He also is assistant football coach and golf coach.

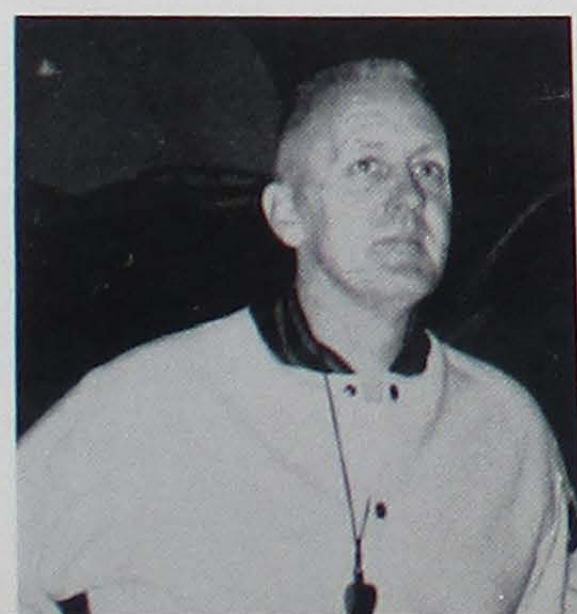

Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, American literature teacher, helps acquaint her junior students with the best of American writing.

Besides teaching the first and second year Spanish students grammar and pronunciation, Mrs. Lyla Meade teaches them about the customs and history of Spanish speaking countries.

Kenneth Wells, coach of the C.I.C. football conference champs, is Ames High's athletic director and also teaches P.E.

Mrs. Leola Ruch teaches her sophomore English classes about the different types of literature and reviews the basic fundamentals of grammar.

Mrs. Kay Garrett teaches American history, commercial law, business organization and management, and personal typing. She also has charge of the noon hour library and sponsors Debate Club.

The senior girls in Pep Club are sponsored by Miss Dorothy DeHamer. She teaches stenography, office training, and also sponsors the homecoming committee.

Hi Covey teaches economics and sociology and is responsible for Ames High's championship track teams. He is also assistant football coach and sophomore basketball coach.

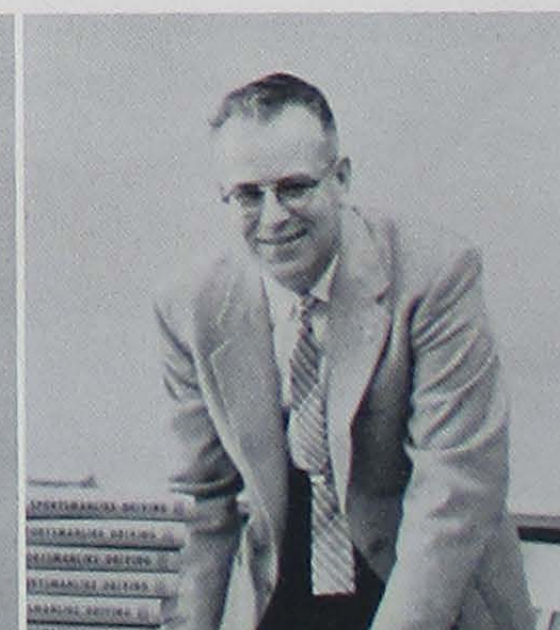

A newcomer to the Ames High faculty, James Jones, teaches plane geometry, applied mathematics, business arithmetic and physics. He is also assistant sponsor of Hi-Y.

Mrs. Billie Alexander, who has lived in Morocco and visited France, teaches beginning and advanced French.

Gerald Sielert, drivers' training teacher, also has charge of audio-visual aids and noon hour recreation.

School Nurse

A person whom many of us depend on when we have been sick is our school nurse, Miss Ruth Ecklind. She comes each day from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. to 1:00 p.m. in order to admit students who have been absent with a communicable disease.

Here she is shown using a Project-O-Chart, a device for screening for vision defects, to test Judy Nordin's vision. All sophomores and upperclassmen wearing glasses are given eye examinations each year. Miss Ecklind uses an instrument called the audiometer in giving hearing tests to all sophomores.

Miss Ecklind advises all students who have defective vision or hearing to obtain medical help. She says poor eyesight or hearing may be responsible for academic difficulties.

Custodians

Ames High students are fortunate to be able to work in a clean, well-kept building. For this they can thank the custodial staff. Sylvester Newkirk and Joe Middents come early each morning. Paul Sherman comes at noon to work the late shift. Although cleaning for 600 students is a full-time job, extra jobs such as repairing lockers and desks, replacing broken windows, and during the summer washing walls, painting, scrubbing the floors, and other repair jobs keep them busy. They come early to open the doors and many times stay late to clean up after basketball games and all high school parties. They give our school that extra special look by their mopping, shining and polishing.

Cafeteria

There was a lot of work to be done in the kitchen before the cafeteria line formed each noon. Mrs. Maud Marsh, the manager of the cafeteria, Mrs. Cornelia Erickson, and Mrs. Anna Moreland had to peel sixty pounds of potatoes before a typical meal. They planned a variety of menus each day for an average of one hundred and seventy students and faculty. They were assisted by a number of students who got out of class a few minutes before the end of the third period in order to help. Carol Arrasmith, Nancy Baumann, Mary Ann Schweitzer, and Charlotte Clapp served in the line. Barb Erickson and Mary Arthur acted as cashiers and took the receipts to the bank. Bill Donels, Jim Bragonier, Steve Howell, Steve Henderson, Jim Ayres, and Dennis Erickson took turns doing the different K. P. jobs and serving the faculty. Bonnie Luther arranged the menu display board.

Student Government in Action

Mona Wolf, first semester student body president.

Denny Porter, second semester student body president.

"Democracy in action" is an appropriate title for the student body elections which are held in the spring and fall. They are complete with nominating sessions, campaign posters, signs and rallies.

Mona was elected from a field of two other candidates—Jim Merchant and Bruce Hildreth. Denny competed with Mike Klein and Stan Scholl.

Among their duties as student body presidents, Mona and Denny presided at assemblies and student council meetings. The council meets each Tuesday on alternating periods. First semester Jim Merchant and Margie Easton were vice president and secretary respectively. Don Milliken and Anne Easton held these offices second semester. Jack Smalling was appointed treasurer for both semesters.

The student council organizes committees which include service, assembly, social, homecoming, noon hour, welcoming, and election. The committees are headed by members of student council and the other members are chosen from volunteers from the student body. Some of their many duties include arranging for assemblies and student elections, helping with homeroom parties and the social program, welcoming new students to Ames High, and constantly keeping the student handbook up to date. Career Day and Back-to-School-Night were two of the special events they sponsored.

Senior Senate

Led by Dwayne Catron, president of the senior class; Bruce Hildreth, vice president; Carol Smith, secretary; and Dave Erickson, treasurer; the Senior Senate was set up to manage senior affairs. A representative from each homeroom also served on the senate. They were Stella Dixon, 109; Fred Errington, 113; Joan Bachman, 210; Mike Klein, 233; Dick Ramsey, 234; and Ed Krekow, 238.

Some of their many activities were ordering caps and gowns and announcements, planning for graduation and baccalaureate exercises, and planning activities for the all important senior week. They also sponsored the big money making project, the senior class play.

Junior Executive Council

It was either raining, snowing, or freezing at the Junior class car wash, leaf rake and corn pick. In spite of all this, the class still managed to make some money. Milk and spudnuts were sold at the high school parties. The biggest money making project of all was the Junior class play, "Time Out For Ginger," presented on February 13 and 15.

The Junior class was led by Garwin Smith, president; Clark Pasley, vice president; Frances McTague, secretary; Dale Edwards, treasurer. Other representatives on the Junior Executive Council were Steve Howell from H.R. 236, Sylvia Pinnell from H.R. 211, Bonnie Hazel from H.R. 108, and Sara Hinrichsen from H.R. 111.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. MacBride the class had a very successful Junior-Senior prom. The class also provided the flowers for commencement and baccalaureate.

The Juniors lose again!

Girl Reserves

Jean Bachman, second semester president.

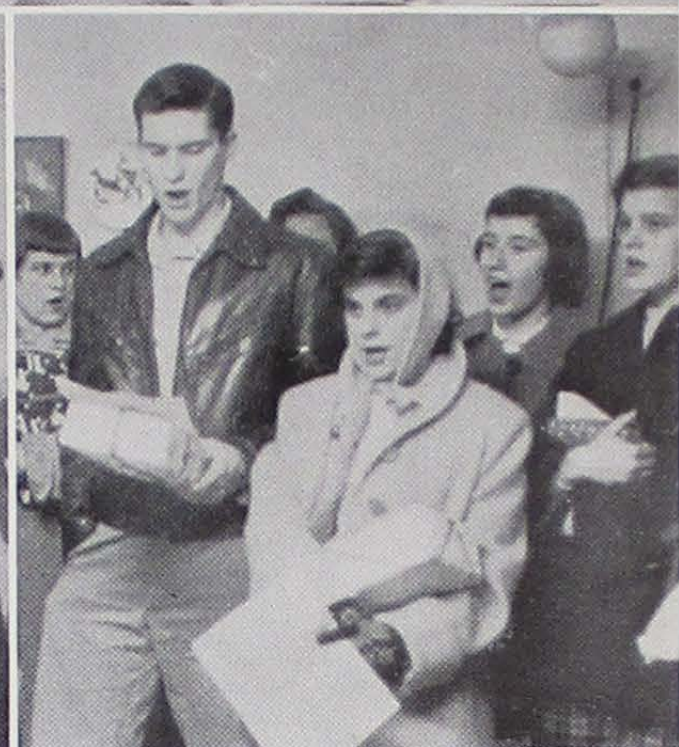

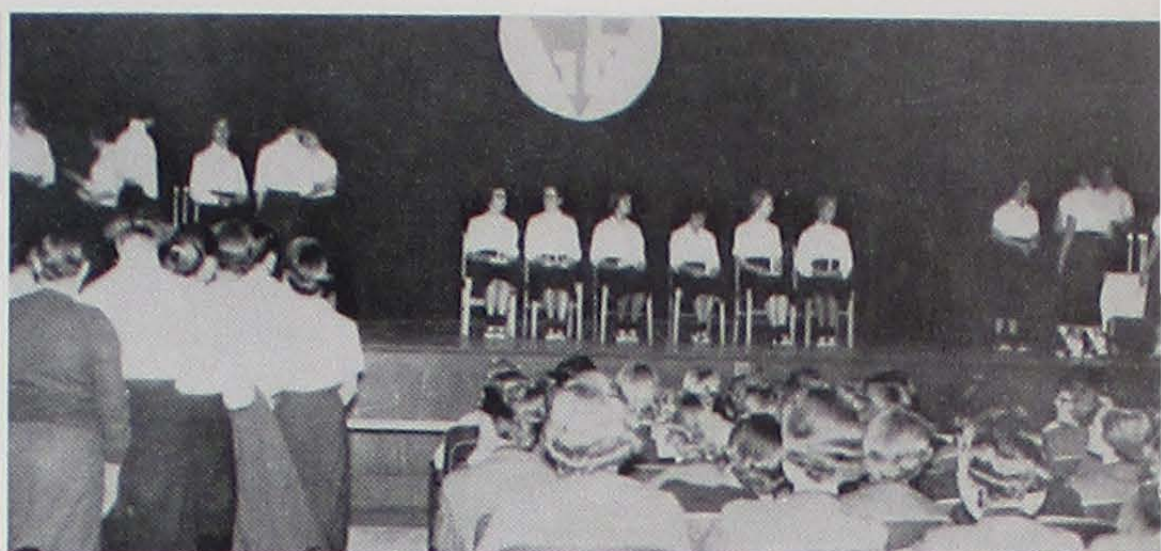

Joan Bachman, first semester president.

All girls of Ames High School as members of Girl Reserves share their talents and interests to produce programs for their meetings every two weeks. Some of their programs included a style show, an initiation and installation, and a program giving a preview of Girl Reserve activities.

Special events included a Mother-Daughter Tea, a Dad-Daughter Date Night, Friendship Week, and a Big Pal-Little Pal picnic. Their projects included selling Christmas sprays, sponsoring a foster child, collecting old clothes, and sending Christmas gifts to the County Home. The Girl Reserves have a place for every girl in their many activities.

Joan and Jean Bachman interchanged the offices of president and vice president first and second semesters. The other officers were Mary Louise Judge, secretary, and Marianne Chance, treasurer. The cabinet also included the president and vice president of the representatives and two girls on each of the following committees: devotions, music, program, social, publicity, and service.

Hi-Y Cabinet and Representatives

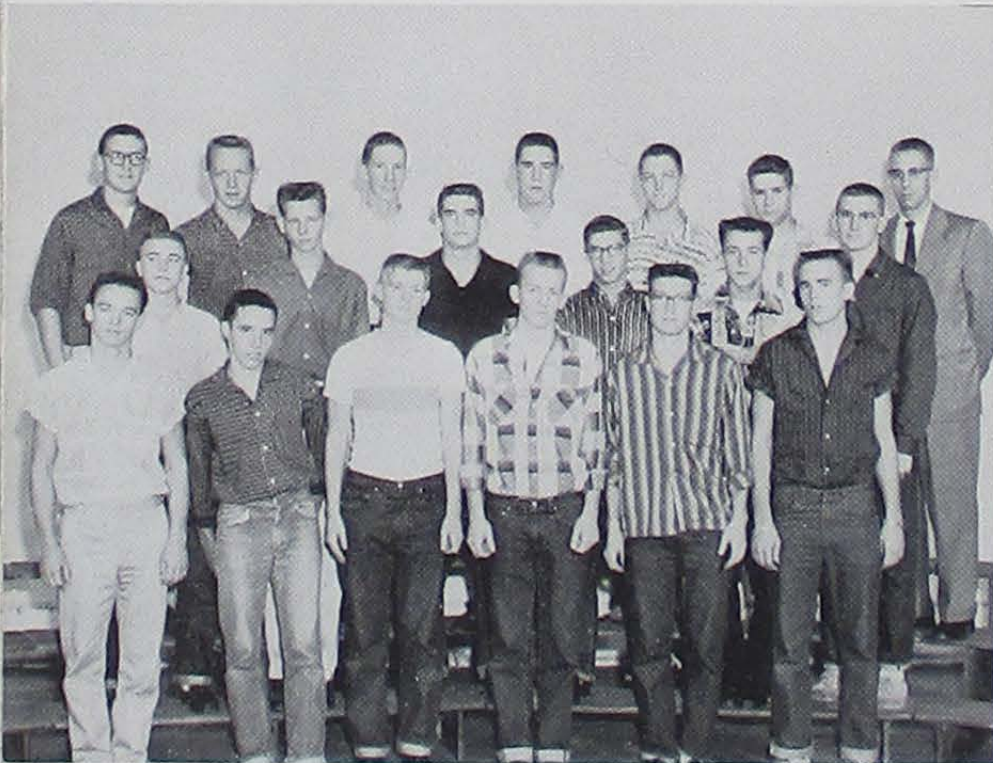

First Semester Cabinet:

Back row: Mr. Stone, D. Trump, Johndreau, Milliken, Scholl, Smalling, Stensland.
Front row: Goetz, Browning, Merchant, Ellis.

Representatives:

Hi-Y Activities

Hi-Y gives every boy in high school a chance for leadership and service.

The meetings are held every other Friday as either assemblies or hobby groups. The Hi-Y projects include supporting a war orphan, sending Christmas gifts to the County Home, sponsoring Friendship Week, and being in charge of the refreshment stands at football and basketball games.

Dave Browning and Stan Scholl were presidents first and second semesters respectively. The other officers first semester were Gary Ellis, vice president; and Jim Merchant, secretary. Ben Fellows and John Highbarger held these offices second semester. Roger Goetz was appointed treasurer. The hobby group leaders were also on the cabinet. The hobby groups and their leaders were as follows: aeronautics, Mark Anderson, first semester; Ed Krekow, second semester; science, Dave Trump; stamps, Jack Smalling; athletics, Stan Scholl, first semester; Tom Gray, second semester; auto mechanics, Don Milliken, first semester; Dick Gulliver, second semester; photography, Bob Stensland; and hunting and fishing, Jim Johndreau.

A Cappella Choir

"There's music in the air," as you approach the choir room and hear the A Cappella choir rehearsing for one of its many performances. They sang in the Tri-City festival which included Ames, Fort Dodge, and Webster City, the spring concert, U.C.Y.M. Easter Service, and for many clubs, church groups, and school programs.

Mr. Wayne Cross, director, provides the choir with interesting and varied music, ranging from the Fred Waring arrangement of "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" to the Hallelujah Chorus from the "Messiah." This gave the choir the chance to learn more about music.

The leaders for 1957-1958 were Ava Lee, president; Bob Stensland, vice president; Judi Mathison, secretary-treasurer; Sandra Rouze and Don Milliken, librarians; and Steve Carr and Martha Howe, robe-keepers.

This year for the first time there was a junior-senior mixed chorus. It was started to give more vocal students the chance to sing in a mixed group.

The officers for this year were Joe Balloun, president; Betty Schrampher, vice president; Sandra Akin, secretary-treasurer; Pat Trow, librarian; and Barb Dahlberg and Bruce Barron, robe-keepers.

The junior-senior chorus combined with the sophomore mixed chorus to sing for the Christmas program, Friendship Week, and the spring concert.

The sophomore leaders were president, Gretchen Wildman; vice president, Ron Jones; secretary-treasurer, Margie Walsh; librarian, Janice Ustrud; and robe-keepers, Steve Jensen and Carol Black.

Judge, Thompson, Vilmont, Piper, Dennis Erickson, J. Anderson.

The masculine voices of the boys' glee clubs were heard at the spring concert and other school programs.

In order to provide a place for any boy that wanted to sing, three boys' glee clubs were scheduled.

Mr. Cross also trained several small groups, including two junior girls' sextets, a senior girls' sextet, a senior boys' quartet, two junior boys' quartets, and several soloists.

The combined girls' glee clubs sang for many of the school programs, such as the Christmas assembly, Friendship Week, and the spring concert.

The girls' glee clubs offer all girls in high school the opportunity to take part in a vocal music group.

The juniors and seniors met Monday, Wednesday, and Friday period two and another group met on Monday period two. The two presidents were Malinda Hawkins and Judy Sylwester.

The Sophomores met on Monday fourth period and Monday, Wednesday, and Friday period five. Their president was Judy Suhr.

This year the 60 piece orchestra had two fine concerts. The first, the Midwinter concert, was held on January 23 and the second, the Spring "Pop" concert, on April 26. The music ranged from classics to modern. The orchestra also played for two assemblies and the Tri-City Festival. The 25-piece theater orchestra played at the A.H.S. plays.

Twelve members qualified to participate in all-state orchestra held in Des Moines over Thanksgiving vacation. They were as follows: Mary Lou Gould, Sue Englehorn, Janice Meier, Judy Simpson, Tom Timm, Ilene Wardle, Margaret Schrader, Tessie Pappas, Bill Henderson, Nancy Anderson, Sally Howard, and Sue Hetzel.

Marching and Dance Bands

"Practice makes perfect." Four days a week the Ames High band held a practice from 7:55 to 8:37 am. During the football season the band marched on the field each morning—rain or shine. This was in preparation for the half time entertainment at the football games.

At the annual band concert on March 21, the band featured the world's greatest trumpeter, Mr. Mendez. His appearance as soloist brought many out-of-town visitors and a capacity crowd. The concert band also played at two assembly programs and at the Tri-City band festival held at Ames on May 13.

The swing band played for the Teen Time Talent show, some high school parties, Back to School night, and Career Day.

The pep band played for pep assemblies and all home basketball games.

Mr. Day directed the band.

Four members made all-state band: Gretchen Wildman, Dave Keller, Becky McBride, and Barb Buchwald.

Music, a Means of Expression

Majorettes

Although the drum major and majorettes spent much time working on routines, due to the bad weather the public saw only two performances. The drum major, majorettes, and flag twirlers led the marching band in the flag-raising ceremony and during half-time entertainment at football games. The snappy routines of the majorettes always attracted attention.

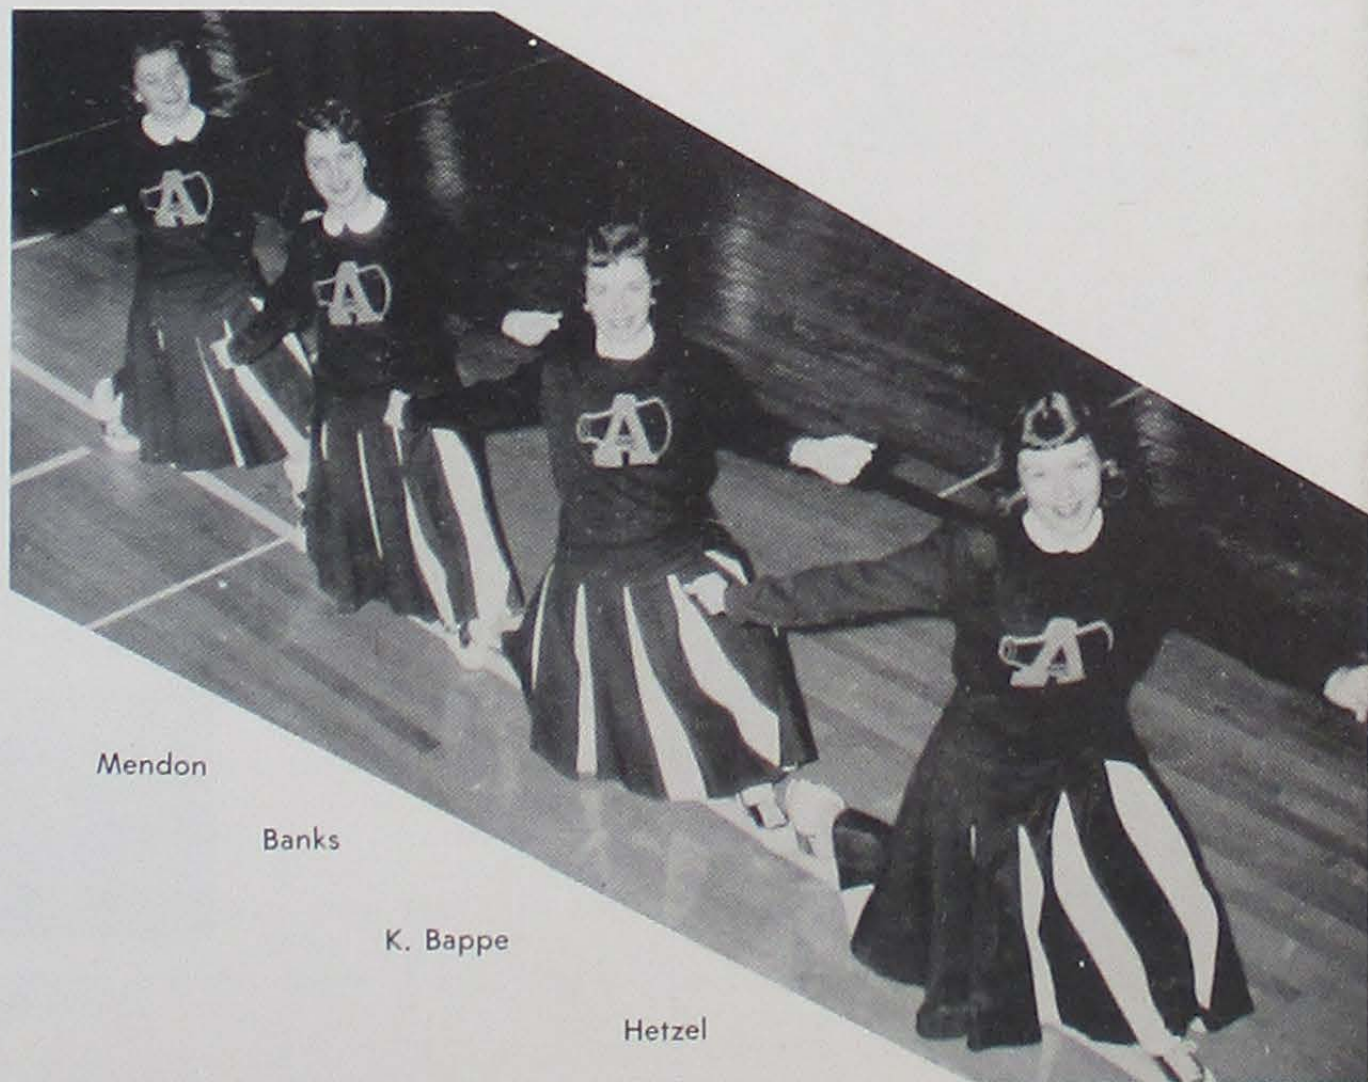

The drum major was Sandy Peterson. Mary Jo Anderson, Marilyn Blaess, Patty Catron, Malinda Hawkins, Sonja Haugen, Karlyn Peterson, Sandy Rouze, Sandy Smith, and Mary Ellen Walsh were the majorettes. Jean and Judy Suhr were the flag-twirlers.

For the second year the sophomore class had cheerleaders at all games. The four leaders were Sue Mendon, Sue Hetzel, Carol Banks, and Katie Bappe. The sophomore cheersquad had its own set of cheers for the sophomore games.

Alternates, Dallas Wall, Jo Hiserote, Rita Bappe, and Carol Hostetter, were also given the opportunity to cheer at games.

To promote interest in drama among the students and the people of Ames is the purpose of Palm Club, the honorary drama club.

Two initiations were held for members of drama who had earned fifty-two points, headed a crew on two plays, and completed three semesters of drama.

The Palm Club, serving as the governing body of the Drama Club, was led by Elliot Haupt, president; Danny Schaeffer, vice president; Connie Kuhl, secretary; and Marj Easton, treasurer.

In the fall the Palm Club held a mixer for old and new members of drama. The club also took a trip to Des Moines to see a play and held a reunion during Christmas vacation for all old members.

The five productions this year were directed by Robert Hamilton, drama instructor, and produced by the drama department.

"Come down, come down, from your Ivory Tower."

"The Oblong Circle"

An unusual mystery which held the audience in suspense during all three acts was The Oblong Circle, the Drama Department's fall production directed by Mr. Hamilton. The play by Harold P. Rednour presented several challenges for the technical staff including the construction of a sliding panel in the set designed by Iva Jean Davis, scene designer. Anne Strand was assistant director and Margie Gibbs was stage manager. Margie Easton was business manager.

"Time Out for Ginger"

Should a girl play football? That was the theme of "Time Out for Ginger." Mr. Carol made a big mistake when he stated in a lecture to the local high school classes that everyone should have the right to do as he pleases. Ginger, much impressed with her father's speech, went out for football. This was where the trouble began. Her father's job was jeopardized; her sisters insisted that their social life had been blighted. Before the scuffle was over, Ginger found that playing football and being a girl weren't compatible.

The juniors presented the play as a means of raising money for the Junior-senior prom which was held in the spring.

To teach the individual to use ideas, think on his feet, and gain ease in self expression before a group were the purposes of the Ames High debate club.

Students who enjoyed speech activities and had a willingness to show their ideas met Tuesday nights to prepare for many tournaments all over the state. They went to Fort Dodge, Coe College, Brindley, I.S.T.C., I.S.C. and to a district debate conference.

The group was coached by Mrs. Kay Garrett and the officers for this year were Judi Mathison, president; Steve Howell, vice president; and Jim Judisch, secretary-treasurer.

F.H.A.

Promoting an appreciation of home-making, encouraging democracy in the home and community life, and promoting international good will were the basic ideas of the Future Homemakers of America.

A meeting was held every first and third Thursday. Under the sponsorship of Miss Trout, the members learned about the Teen Age Consumer Education along with many other things.

The F.H.A. officers were Pat Sucher, president; Sharon Lewis, vice president; Diane Storby, treasurer; Carmen Catron, secretary; Anita Kelly, parliamentarian; Lisa Hall, historian; Pam Owing, public relation; Jo Boston, music; Judy Elliott, recreation; Janet Sills, social chairman.

Library Club

Doing the regular library work such as checking books in and out, keeping the material in the proper place, and decorating the display case kept the library members busy.

On the second and fourth Wednesday of each month under the supervision of Mrs. Dickinson, the Library Club held a noon luncheon.

Officers were Linda Miller, and Ada Larson, presidents first and second semesters respectively, and Karen Houge, secretary.

Generating pep for all athletic events and pep assemblies was the purpose of the Pep Club, composed of every willing senior girl. Seated in a body at all home football and basketball games, they worked with the cheer squad to maintain enthusiasm throughout the game.

The girls worked with the marching band for half-time entertainment at football games and had charge of all the entertainment at half-time at basketball games.

The girls also ushered at athletic events. Leading them in all their activities were their four officers: Kathi Hansen, president; Pat Bloomfield, vice president; Suzanne Pinnell, secretary; and Karen Houge, treasurer; and representatives from the homerooms.

One of the hardest working groups was the cheersquad, who nearly yelled themselves hoarse every Friday night leading the cheers at the games. The cheersquad was composed of Carol Smith, head cheerleader, Pat Bloomfield, Dick Boast, Kit Carr, Danny Schaeffer, and Sherry Wierson. They also led the student body in cheers at team send-off and pep assemblies.

Family trees were back as far as possible. The lucky students had the books or old diaries. However, most of the information was deciphered from memories of parents and grandparents.

Several students discovered they were related to famous people. Roger Goel

"Students must be aggressive and go after scholarships. The boys' and girls' There are as many scholarships at colleges, but schools and them out." Deadlines are very important for scholarship applications. At most Iowa schools, the deadline is March 15. Some require applications to be submitted by several required applications made by Feb. 15. All applications are usually closed by "Many students wait for the announcements of scholarship winners before they wanted or needed a counselor added. "By then it's late."

A student should be in the top percent or one-fifth of his class to be considered for a scholarship. The candidate should have full recommendations. Colleges also require complete records of the applicant.

Cubs Club

Creating an interest in journalistic writing is the purpose of Cubs Club. To qualify for membership on the newspaper staff, members must have written thirty column inches which have been published.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Charlotte Whitney, the group met every two or three weeks. Alice Andre was president and Sara Hinrichsen was secretary.

Special cub projects were the Faculty News letter and the first issue of the second semester Web.

Student Treasurers

$50,000 a year is handled by the student treasurers. The treasurers are chosen by the faculty sponsors for their dependability, accuracy, neatness and availability.

Each student collected money, made out receipts, financial reports, an annual report, kept a set of books, and made a tentative budget for the organization which he represented. By doing these things, the student learned many business procedures.

The system used for handling the money is known as a triple check. If the student wants to make a purchase for the school, he has a requisition signed by his faculty sponsor and the principal. He receives a check from the general treasurer, makes the purchase, has the clerk sign the requisition which is then filed. The financial reports are subject to check by the board of education and a state auditor.

The treasurers are supervised by Miss McNally, the general treasurer.

Students interested in some phase of science met on Monday evenings from 7:00 to 9:30 pm.

Each member had a project which interested him. For example, Ron Moses continued on a spectroscope that was started last year.

The officers were Russell Hageman, president; Roger Goetz, vice president; Dave Trump, secretary; Bernice Black, treasurer; and Ron Moses, equipment.

Another club which met on Monday evenings was the radio club. The members were interested in learning about radio and electronics. Much of their time was spent working toward an amateur license. If achieved it meant being a "ham" or radio operator. The members fixed up old equipment and built some of their own to use in the operation of radio stations.

Both clubs were supervised by Mr. Sturtevant.

Fire Squad rules are as follows:

1. Walk up and down stairs.
2. Walk through the halls.
3. Take your proper turn in the cafeteria line.
4. Leave your books in the class room or lockers.
5. Eat in the cafeteria (only).
6. Open and close lockers properly.
7. Obey rules during fire drills.
8. Leave the building as soon as possible after 4 P.M.
9. Abstain from smoking on school premises.
10. Drive carefully around the building.
11. Have conduct becoming to Ames High Students.

For the second straight year Coach Kenny Well's Little Cyclones finished with a perfect season, in spite of rain storms, freezing weather and a flu epidemic. Stan Scholl led the Little Cyclones in scoring with 48 points. He carried the ball 69 times to pick up 447 yards for a rushing average of 6.5 yards. Quarterback Don Milliken passed for 334 yards and led the team in kick-off returns with an average of 20.5 yards. Left halfback Gary Ellis snagged 5 interceptions and also led all pass receivers with 8 catches for 184 yards.

In the state football polls Ames finished second to Davenport and placed 5 team members on the first All-Conference team. Ben Fellows, the 1957 captain, was named to an All-Midwest team and an All-America squad on top of his All-State, All-Conference honors.

Undefeated

AMES 20 EAST SIOUX CITY 0

Ames High opened its 1957 football campaign by downing a perennial football power, the East Sioux City Raiders. The Little Cyclones scored twice on passes from Don Milliken to Gary Ellis and once on a three yard plunge by Gregg Gammack.

AMES 19 BOONE 0

The Little Cyclones successfully kicked off its 1957 Central Iowa Conference football warfare by stopping Boone on a rainswept field. Stan Scholl scored twice, once on a 32 yard jaunt around end, and once on a two yard plunge. End Jim Dresser tallied from the Boone 23 on a picked up fumble for Ames' final touchdown.

AMES 34 NEWTON 12

Rolling up 233 yards rushing, the Little Cyclones crushed Newton to take the CIC grid lead. Scholl scored three times on two runs of 4 yards and once on an end sweep of 20 yards. Dresser counted twice, the first on a Cardinal fumble from 20 yards out and the second on a 56 yard pass interception.

AMES 26 GRINNELL 13

Ames got off to a fast start when Scholl scored on a 65 yard touchdown on the second play of the game. Scholl, Gammack and Milliken tallied from close range to complete the scoring in this hard fought CIC grid battle.

AMES 12 WEST WATERLOO 0

In spite of a flu epidemic which hit almost the entire squad, Ames continued its winning streak at the expense of West Waterloo in West's homecoming game. The Little Cyclone passing attack clicked for both touchdowns, one from Milliken to Ellis and the other from Milliken to sophomore fullback Dave Chipman.

AMES 41 MARSHALLTOWN 13

Once again the reserves stole the show as Ames High trounced the Marshalltown Bobcats. Reserve back Bruce Hildreth scored twice, Gammack, Ellis, Steve Carr, and Jim Stuart once each. Milliken converted three times and Dave McFarland twice to round out the scoring.

AMES 14 OSKALOOSA 0

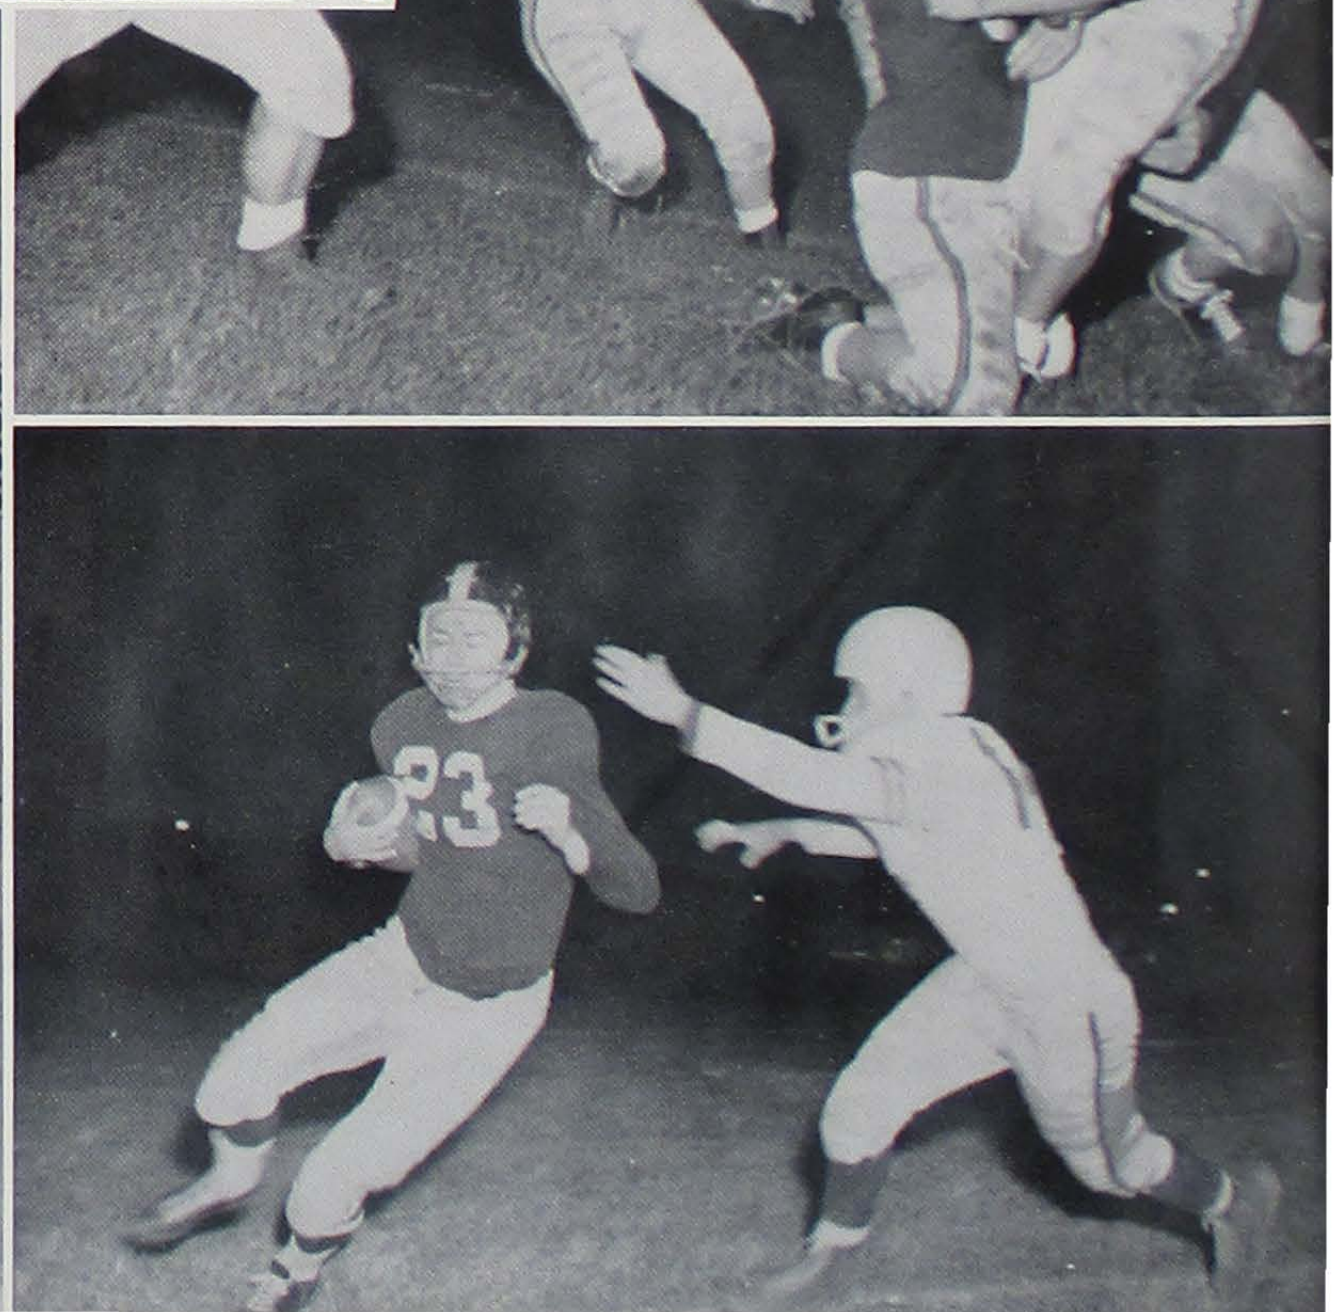

In their homecoming game the Little Cyclones retained the CIC crown by defeating Oskaloosa on a soggy field. Scholl and Gammack each scored once and picked up 139 and 74 yards respectively. Ames' strong defense permitted Osky only six first downs and a net gain of 100 yards.

CYC Champs

AMES 14 ROOSEVELT D. M. 6

Ames climaxed its 1957 football season in a blaze of glory by defeating the Roosevelt Rough Riders, making the Little Cyclones undefeated for the second season in a row. Ames led all the way due to two seven yard touchdowns by Scholl and Gam-mack. Milliken kicked both extra points.

Under new coach Cecil Spatcher the Ames High sophomores won three and tied one. Many of the sophomores' games were cancelled due to a flu epidemic. The team's leading scorer was halfback Ron Fain. Blaine Zenor, Denny Tice, Lee Scheuermann, Ron Jenkins, Bruce Batman, Mickey Von Bergen, Dave Page, Steve Rust, and Chuck Phipps were fine all around players.

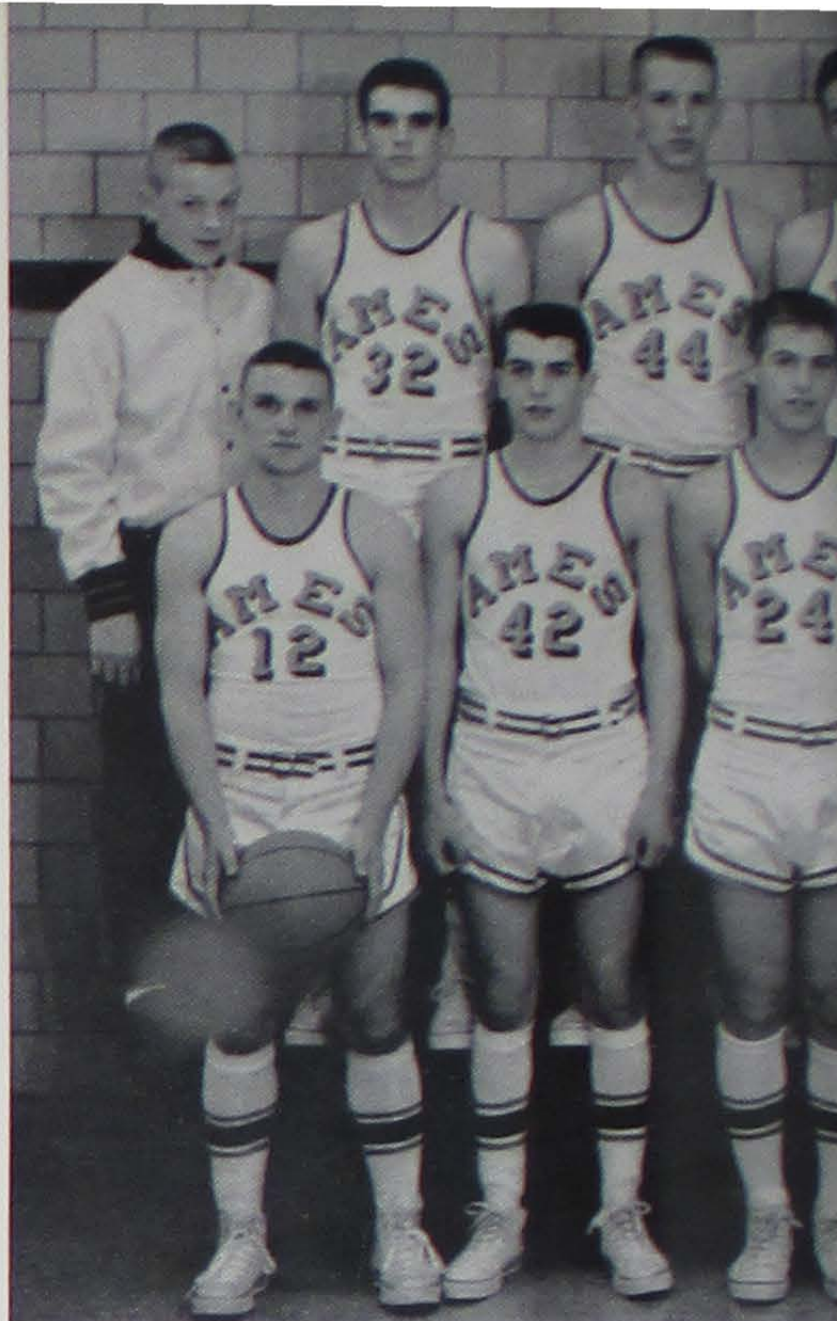

"The team as a whole showed plenty of speed, hustle and ability. We are hopeful that these boys will help form a nucleus for another fine team for Coach Kenneth Wells in the 1958 season," stated Coach Spatcher.

For the last two years the Little Cyclone cagers have finished conference competition with five wins and five losses. In the conference race they finished behind Oskaloosa and Marshalltown in a third place tie with Newton.

Coach Wally Linn started the season with the all-senior line-up of forwards, Jim Dresser and Ben Fellows, center Ron Toppenberg, and guards Don Milliken and Gary Ellis. Juniors who appeared in the line-up later in the season were forward Jim Stuart and center Dave Wall. With the senior line-up Ames soundly whipped AA district finalist Mason City, getting scoring in the double figures from four of the five starters. Ames went on to beat North Des Moines and Carroll, but was tripped by the eventual CIC champs, Oskaloosa, in their fourth game. After the Osky loss the Little Cyclones bounced back and downed Grinnell, Boone, and Nevada before hitting a four game losing streak. All four losses were to state powerhouses—Des Moines Roosevelt, Newton, Marshalltown, and Oskaloosa. Once again Ames came back and played their best ball of the season while downing Grinnell, Boone, Newton, and Webster City. In their last scheduled game the Little Cyclones lost to Marshalltown 46-42 after leading the Bobcats the first three quarters of play.

In the state tournament Ames drew rival Boone in the first game of sectional play. They made it three straight over Boone and advanced to the finals against Webster City at Webster City. The Little Cyclones' hope of going any further in state meet competition was cut short when All-Stater John Ptacek hit a jump shot with two seconds remaining, giving Webster City a 65-63 victory.

For the last three years Mr. Covey's sophomore basketball team has won the Central Iowa Conference championship. The sophs lost three games in sixteen starts, only one to a conference foe—Marshalltown. Leading the team in scoring was Jack Carr who was ably assisted with balanced scoring from Steve Jensen, Ron Jenkins, Dave Chipman, Chuck Phipps, and Steve Rust. "This year's team was the best, or as good as the best defensive sophomore team I have ever coached," said Mr. Covey. The team's record is as follows:

COACH SPATCHER

For the first year Ames High had a school sponsored varsity reserve basketball team. The team was composed of junior and senior boys who did not make the varsity squad. It was organized to get more boys playing basketball and to provide a good time for all. Coach Spatcher took fifteen boys to out-of-town games, letting each of them play at least one quarter. The entire squad saw action in home games. Perhaps the reserves' most outstanding game was against United Community, when they beat the Boone County champs 37-33. They completed their season against the intramural all-stars—the senior reserves playing the senior all-stars and the junior reserves playing the junior all-stars.

Again the Little Cyclones' baseball team went undefeated in regular season competition. Ames' only loss was to Cedar Valley in the district finals. The team's leading hitters were captain Gary Ellis with a batting average of .551, catcher Jack Smalling with an average of .468 and Dave Posegate at .400. As a team, Ames' batting average was .329 and slugging average .440.

Ellis pitched in 11 games with an earned run average of .92 and also led in runs batted in with 25. Ames' other pitchers were John Aegerter with an earned run average of 2.63 and Ed Hansen with an earned run average of .57. Jim Dresser led the team in stolen bases with 10. Coach Ray Smalling will have a veteran team back in 1958 with the exception of Hansen and Aegerter, who have graduated.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is an athletic honorary club composed of major letter winners in football, basketball, track, golf, tennis, and baseball. Activities of the club include initiation of new members and the furnishing of flowers for the track queens through club dues. At a meeting held in the spring of the year officers are elected, and the annual Varsity Club picnic is planned. In addition to the sponsor, Mr. Wells, this year's officers are President Stan Scholl, Vice President Fred Errington, and Secretary-treasurer Denny Porter.

Football, swimming, bowling, and wrestling are among the many activities offered by the Ames High intramural program. Twenty-one homerooms take part in the competition, divided into three leagues, senior, junior, and sophomore. All boys are eligible except those who have won a major letter in the sport or those who are members of the sophomore or varsity team. Points of 10-6-4-2 are awarded for places in each tournament. If there are two tournaments in the same activity, such as ping-pong doubles and ping-pong singles, points of 5-3-2-1 are given. At the end of the year these points are totaled to determine the grand champion in each league. A trophy is awarded to the winning homeroom, and first and second place ribbons are given to individual winners.

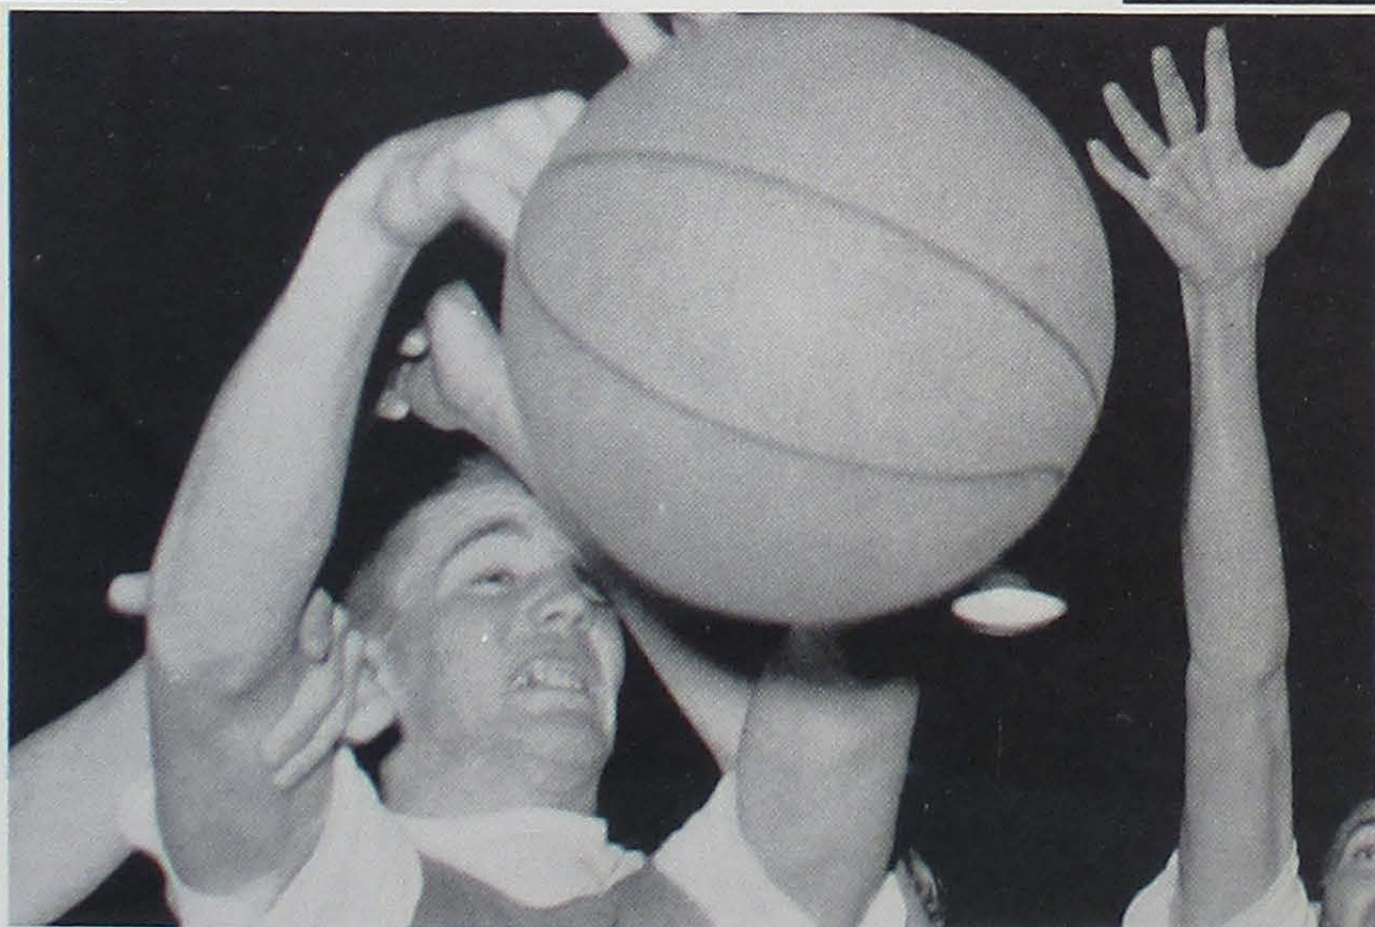

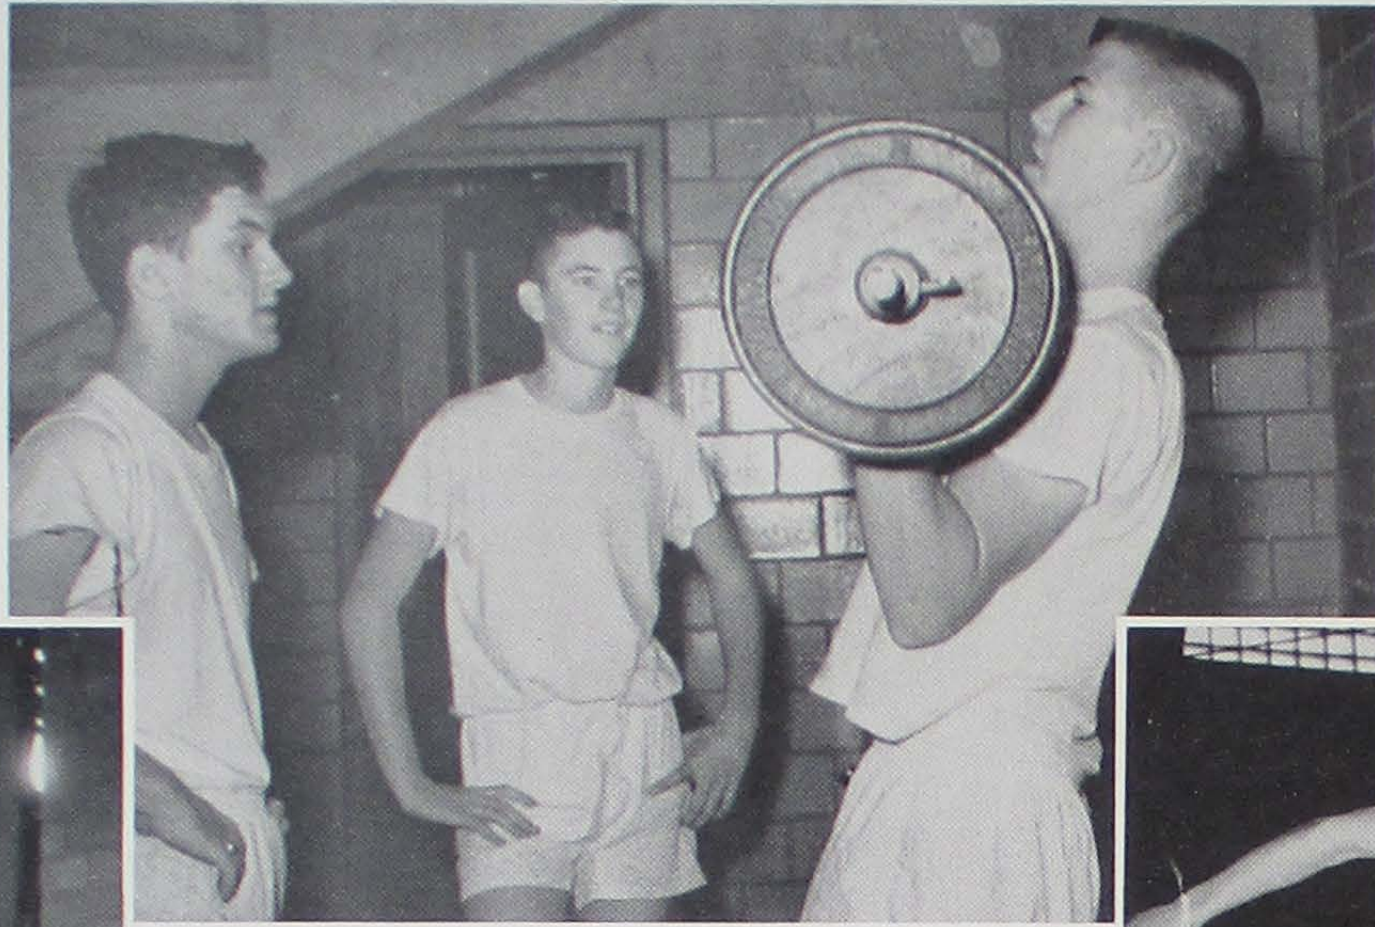

At the end of the fall activities, homeroom 109 led the senior league with 42 points; 111 led the juniors with 25; and 208 led the sophomores with $31\frac{2}{3}$ points.

G.A.A. Cabinet and Council

The Girls' Athletic Association offered the girls in high school the chance to compete in softball, basketball, volleyball, bowling, badminton, and tennis tournaments. This year for the first time the girls had the chance to work on the trampoline.

Both old and new members had a lot of fun at the two potlucks and initiations. Girls were initiated if they had 100 points or more.

The cabinet and council planned all the activities and social functions of the group. The officers were Barb Cox, president; Lavonne Daniels, vice president; Linda Roach, secretary-treasurer; Mary Susan Lee, intramural chairman; Louise Thompson, social chairman; and Alice Andre and Barb Gowan, point recorders.

The rain soaked everything but the spirit and pep of the Ames High students. At a rousing pep assembly in the afternoon, Carol Smith was announced Homecoming Queen. She and her attendants, Stella Dixon and Mary Ellen Walsh, were presented with flowers by Denny Porter, football captain. After the pep assembly, Mayor Joseph Lawlor talked to the students at the city hall.

Due to the rainy weather, Carol Smith and her attendants were presented at a dance held at Elks Hall rather than at the half-time. Carol was crowned queen of the festivities by her escort, Dave Browning.

Spelling Bee

Can you spell panacea, myriad, lymphatic, patois, or jeremiad? These were some of the words in the fourth annual Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Web Staff.

For the fourth year a girl held the title of Spelling Champ. Suzanne Pinnell correctly spelled "panacea" to be the 1958 Spelling Queen. Sue Englehorn was runner-up. Bonnie Hazel and Barb Dahlberg placed third and fourth respectively.

Dr. Keith Huntress, professor of English at Iowa State College, pronounced the words. Mrs. Vegors, Wally Linn, and Dale Hiedeman judged the contest.

Back to School Night

Memories of school days were brought back to parents of Ames High students as they attended classes with their children.

Back-to-School Night gives the parents a chance to meet some of the teachers and to see how classes are conducted.

Students followed their regular Friday morning schedules. The girls met in the gym for Girl Reserves. They had a variety show with Judi Mathison as M.C. The program included numbers by the dance band, a humorous reading, and selections by the Girls' Glee Club. The boys met in the auditorium for Hi-Y. Dave Browning was Master of Ceremonies. The dance band also played for them, and Wally Linn talked on athletics in Ames High.

During the first week in December, fifteen Ames High Students lived in the homes of Shorewood High School students in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The group attended classes, participated in school activities, toured Milwaukee, and made many new friends during their week's visit.

The following week fifteen students from Shorewood High visited Ames High School.

The purpose of the student exchange was to trade ideas and develop friendship, understanding, and an appreciation for a large metropolitan high school.

The seven seniors attending were Joan Bachman, Dave Browning, Dwayne Catron, Mary Louise Judge, Jim Merchant, Mary Ellen Walsh, and Mona Wolf. The five juniors were Gregg Gammack, Frannie McTague, Clarke Pasley, Jan Severson, and Carole Walsh. Dallas Wall, Gretchen Wildman, and Jim Piper were the three sophomores.

"Around the World in 80 Days" was the theme of the annual SPIRIT dance given on January 18. A large crepe paper balloon on the stage carried out this theme. The study hall was also decorated with large cutouts, pictures, and Japanese lanterns. They served as the background for the crowning of the SPIRIT Sweetheart, Jean Bachman and her attendants, Mary Louise Judge and Sandy Carpenter. Master of ceremonies was Jim Merchant, SPIRIT sports editor, who crowned the girls and presented them with corsages. As a remembrance of the dance, Jean also received a bracelet with a heart charm inscribed "Spirit Sweetheart" 58—Jean Bachman. Dave Posegate won the free SPIRIT.

Nancy Anderson, assistant editor, was general chairman; Martha Marks, publicity editor, headed the decorations committee. All worked hard to make the annual year-book dance a success.

But love and I had the wit to win;
We drew a circle that took him in."

This quotation by Edwin Markham was heard each morning during Friendship Week, January 27-30.

For the thirty-first year, a week was set aside to consider problems of character development. "World Brotherhood" was the general theme of this year's Friendship Week sponsored by Hi-Y and Girl Reserves.

Monday morning students met in huddle groups to discuss the main topic "Making the Right Moral Choice." They discussed the problems of cheating and juvenile delinquency.

Tuesday through Thursday the students heard the guest speaker, Rev. D. W. Preus. He is the Campus Pastor of the Lutheran Student Foundation at the University of Minnesota. "There is a tremendous temptation to major in ourselves and minor in God." This was one of the many ideas Rev. Preus presented to the student body in his first talk "Majoring in Minors." He also pointed out that we should love people, not things and serve the church, not clubs. In his second address, "Burden Bearers," he talked about accepting responsibility and helping other people. In his final address, "Double Trouble," Rev. Preus said we must accept ourselves and continually seek to better ourselves to become the persons God wishes us to be.

Rev. Preus also conducted forums for each class, in which they discussed such problems as "going steady" and racial segregation. He also met with the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves cabinets for discussions. Students were given the opportunity to have personal conferences with Rev. Preus. Each morning during the week devotions were given over the P.A. system.

Career Day

For the past fourteen years Career Day has been an integral part of Ames High. The program is designed to aid the students in the choice of a vocation by gaining information from experienced people in various fields. This year fifty-four career choices were offered, ranging from advertising to zoology. The opening assembly was presented by professor Glen Holmes of Iowa State College followed by the first two sectional meetings. In the afternoon, the school dance band, choir, and girls' sextet provided the entertainment. Following was the final sectional meeting.

In previous years the ninth grades from Central and Welch have been invited to Career Day; however, due to increasing enrollment, they were excluded this year.

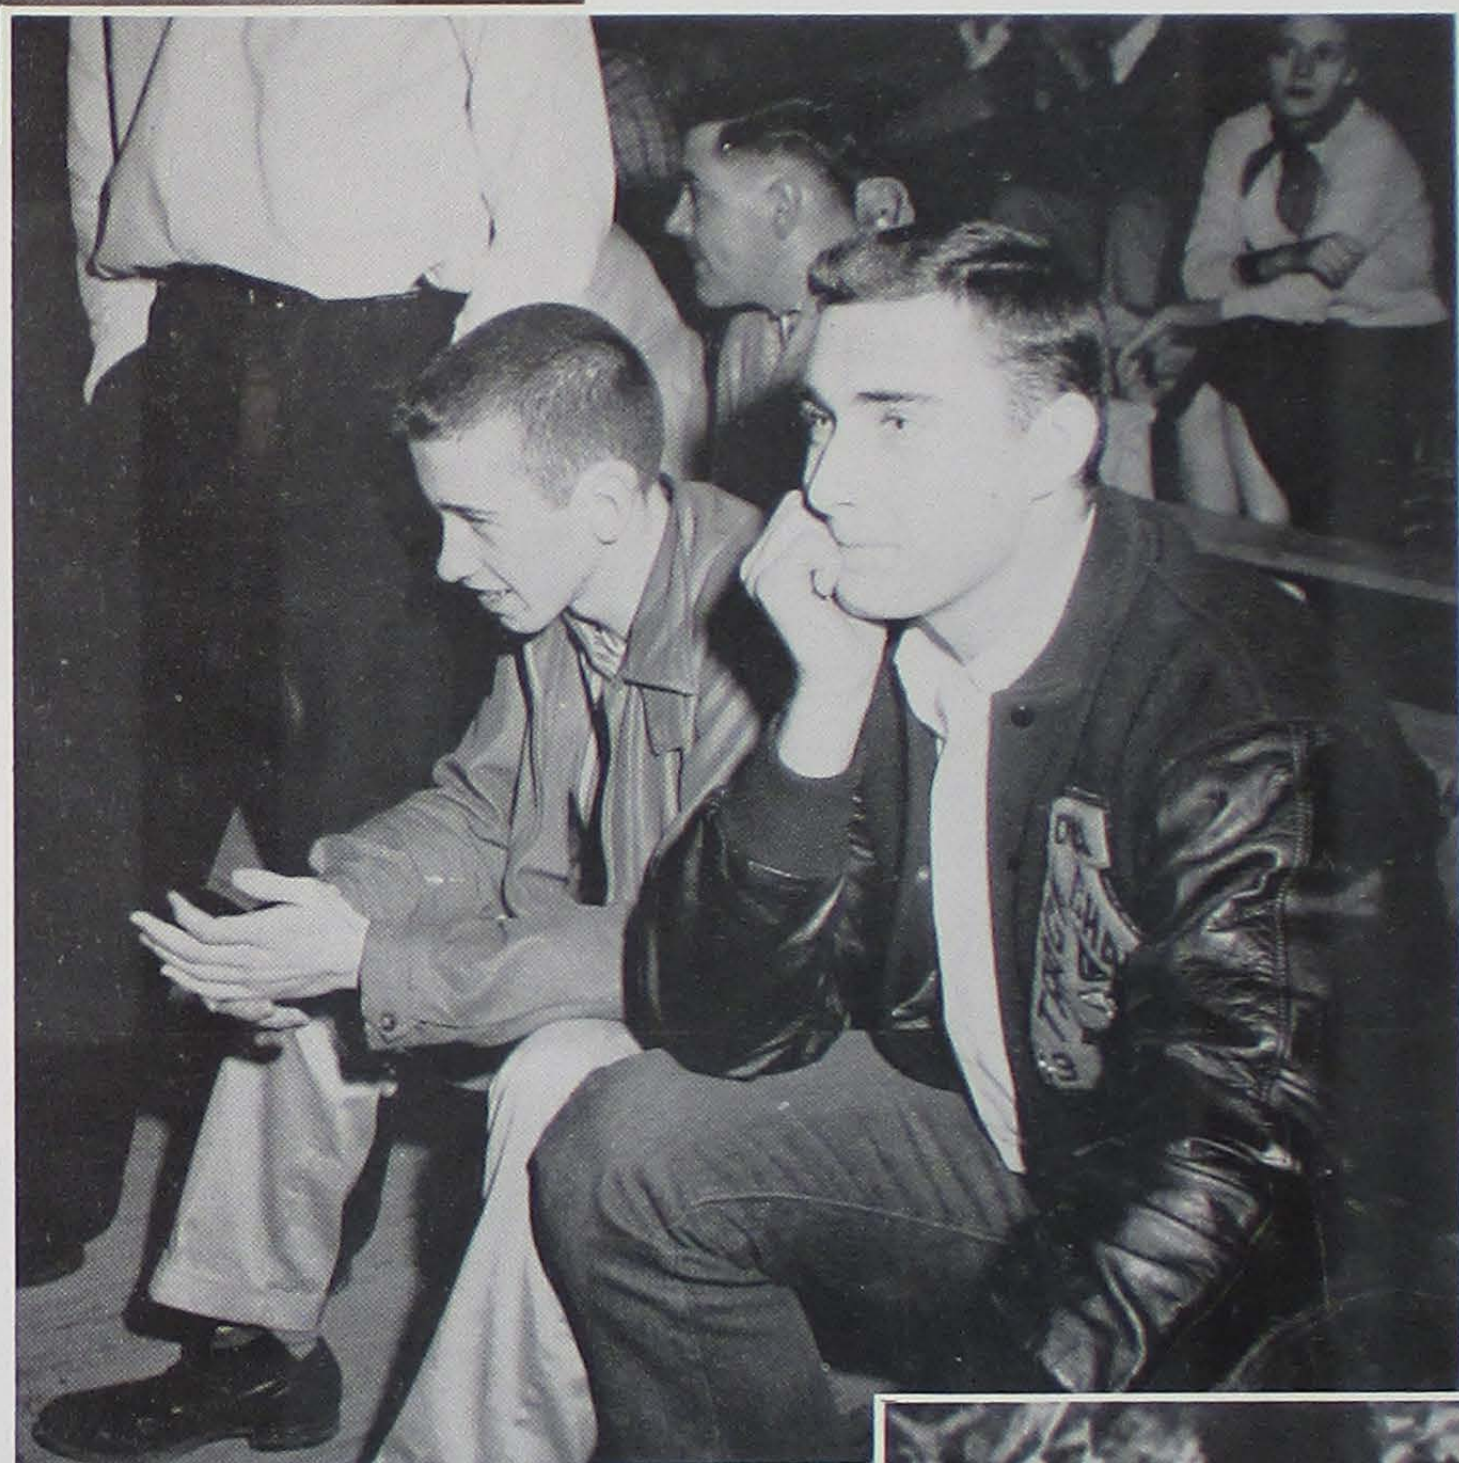

Dr. Goetz advises Jack Young on a career about chemistry.
